

A pre-publication assessment of

Richard Jung:
Experience and Action:
Selected Items in Systems Theory¹

This remarkable book undertakes the daunting task of exploring the interaction and reciprocity between institutional, interpersonal, and subjective means for imposing meaning and structure upon the chaos of life. Its power comes as much from its uncanny skill at raising neglected questions as from its thoughtful and courageous approach to reformulating familiar ones. It is genuinely and richly interdisciplinary in emphasis.

JEROME BRUNER
UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR
NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

¹ R. Jung 2007e.

Experience and Action: Selected Items in Systems Theory.

Vol. 4 of the Series: Complexity | Design | Society. Edition echoraum.

Wien A, 2007, pp. 304. ISBN 978-3-901941-13-9.